

Top Spear Phishing Scams

Don't Take the Bait!

1

Very Attacked People (VAPs)

Attackers often target executives who have access to private financial information or individuals with high levels of network permission access.

2

Blackmail Emails

Attackers use passwords stolen in past data breaches to blackmail victims, promising to avoid disclosure of their information.

3

Romance Fraud

Romance scams rank number one in total reported losses, according to the Federal Trade Commission.

4

Business Email Compromise (BEC)

A sophisticated scam that targets both businesses and individuals who perform legitimate transfer-of-funds requests.

To learn more, review our new tip sheet
(created in partnership with the experts at Rebyc Security),

Eight Strategies to Reduce the Risks Associated with Phishing Attacks.

READ NOW